Miners Continue Defiance

Given Until Friday To Clear Selves of Contempt of Court; Refuse to Dig Coal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(P)—Union miners defied anew today a court order to end their strike. And, they refused to dig coal even though frigid blasts bit into the nation's almost-exhausted fuel supplies.

Below-freezing temperatures blanketed much of the country as the miners continued their "no contract, no work" walkout. Rationing of coal supplies spread rapidly with the prospect of hardships arising in many areas from the cold wave.

Reports from the coal field continued to show a rebellious indifference on the part of the 372,000 striking union workers to the situation.

A fire company was forced to ram through a road block on miner pickets in Western Pennsylvania to put out a fire at a non-union surface mine. Another fire company was barred from the scene by a barrage of stones.

Blamed Pickets

Pennsylvania state police blamed the fire on the pickets, who also upset automobiles of working miners and caused other property damage.

Police Sgt. Marcellus White

estimated 2,000 miner pickets were roaming the area, 80 miles from Pittsburgh, in an effort to close down all non-union mines seeking to operate.

In Washington, center of court action against the miners to get them back to work and of continuing contract negotiations, there was little encouraging news.

At the White House, Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters "there will be nothing on coal here today."

Asked about recurring reports that seizure of the mines is "inevitable," Ross said he could not prophecy beyond today.

UAW President John L. Lewis and soft coal negotiations went on with their contract.

No Progress

At a luncheon recess, George Love, an operator representative, was asked about progress. "I didn't see any," he replied.

The continued defiance of a federal court order to resume work endangered the entire treasury of the UMW, estimated variously at from $13,000,000 to $20,000,000.

The United Mine Workers—but not President John L. Lewis personally—was cited for contempt of court here yesterday by Judge Richmond B. Keech, who had issued the back-to-work order.

The union was given until Friday to clear itself of contempt by getting the 372,000 idle miners back to work. Union lawyers were told to explain Friday, if the men are still out.

That didn't seem to bother the miners. They expressed such comments in the Pennsylvania fields as, "nobody is going to pay any attention to a contempt citation." Another: "Let them fine us until my money is gone."

Mine disorders were reported, especially in Eastern Kentucky.

Petition to Truman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(P)—A petition, bearing 17,000 signatures, and urging President Truman to order striking soft coal miners back to work will be presented to the White House today by two Binghamton, N.Y., men.

The two, Arthur J. Bale, an employee of the Endicott-Johnson Shoe Corp., and John Donnelly, representing Binghamton, Johnson City and Endicott, said industry in the tri-city area faces an almost complete shutdown unless coal is forthcoming.

Federal Agent Dies While Making Raid

MCALISTER, Okla., Feb. 21—(P)—An agent for the federal alcohol tax unit died after a heart attack during a raid on a moonshine still.

Oliver Cornelius, 53, of Ardmore, had gone yesterday to the still northeast of here with Harold Lee, a federal agent from McAlester, and Constable Duke Neels of Krebs.

The officers had made one arrest and were about to chop up several kegs of the moonshine whisky when Cornelius complained of a pain in his chest.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(P)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) is in Doctors' hospital today for what his physician, Dr. R. F. Owen, terms "minor diagnostic procedure."

Reports Given To Council On Monday Night

Include The Fire Department And On Fiscal Affairs

The City Council met in regular session Monday night, Mayor Julian H. Bagby, presiding. A report on the fire department for the year was read, and will appear in detail elsewhere in this paper within the next few days. A report was also read from the Twelve Mile Road District Commissioners. This will also appear in detail in the county's financial statement, to be published in a few days.

Leprechaun Brothers were granted an extension of time in completing the southside sewer treatment plant, scheduled to have been completed in February. The delay, they state, is partly due to the inability to get materials to meet specifications brought in during January.

Renewal license were granted: To Harlan Trimble, doing business at Goldin's market, 206 West Main street, for five per cent package beer; Mrs. Iva Rice, doing business at the Old Missouri Homestead, 421 South Lamine avenue, liquor by the drink; Gladys Alpert, 608 South Ohio avenue, package liquor; Mrs. Roy Osten, doing business as the J. and O. cafe, 1717 West Broadway, retail 3.2 beer; transfer of wholesale beer license, Ben J. Fehnel, doing business as the Stag Sales Company, 1822 South Ingram avenue, to 204 South Montgomery avenue.

Finance Committee Report

A report by the finance committee, Elmer Summers, chairman, was read, as follows:

"To the Mayor and the Members of the City Council of the City of Sedalia, Mo.

"Gentlemen:

"As chairman of your finance committee, I have spent some time recently checking our operations for the first eight (8) months of our fiscal year from May 1st, 1949, to December 31st, 1949, and I am pleased with some of the findings and in other cases I believe we could make improvements.

Our collections for the period stated total $412,299.72 and our disbursements $302,704.92, this is exclusive of the bond account through which we have constructed and finished the two swimming pools and have the sewer project approximately fifty per cent (50%) finished.

The figures above show that we have collected about $110,000, more than we have spent but we still have to finish the year to April 30th, 1950, which is four (4) months more and we all know that our total collections will drop off and it will be necessary to use some of the excess collection to take care of our general operating expense. Also, we will have sewer and park bonds and the interest thereon due in March of this year and also the airport bonds and interest which will total approximately $85,000. so you will see that our collections will have to make up the difference in order for us to stay within our revenue.

So much for the actual figures. Our budget shows that we have overspent our anticipated disbursements in the amount of $7,902.49 for the eight (8) months period stated above and this will have to be reduced if we are to stay within the budget total of $515,832. and I know that everyone will give their assistance in this effort. Our yearly statement has been published in the local newspapers for the benefit of those interested in the operation of their city and we will soon have another booklet showing the complete operation of all departments for the past four (4) years, a copy of which will be mailed to each taxpayer in the city. I wish to thank each and everyone who has made these results possible.

Respectfully submitted by:

"Elmer C. Summers, Chairman, Committee on Finance and Taxes."

Aid Possible For Heavily Used Roads

Plan Raises Total Mileage Now Getting Federal Assistance

By G. Milton Kelly.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(P)—

The Bureau of Public Roads says

it is "possible under existing federal legislation" to extend government aid to some 100,000 miles of heavily-traveled rural roads.

This, the bureau said in a report to a Senate public works subcommittee, would permit federal aid to "practically all of the local roads" carrying 100 or more vehicles daily, and raises to about 700,000 the total mileage which the government helps maintain.

The committee had asked for the report to guide it in a study of bills proposing that federal aid for secondary roads be made a regular budget item.

The bureau made no recommendations along this line but it suggested that local governments might have more money to spend on roads if they corrected "evident weaknesses" in road administration and quit "logrolling."

Needed Repairs Costly

The board estimated that needed repairs to local-kept county, township and other rural roads would cost approximately $7,200,000.

The United Mine Workers—but not President John L. Lewis personally—was cited for contempt of court here yesterday by Judge Richmond B. Keech, who had issued the back-to-work order.

18-Year-Old Girl is Champion Pancake Racer of England

LIBERAL, Kas., Feb. 21—(P)—Housewives of Liberal gave it a good try today, but their first running of a pancake race failed to top the showing of the women of Olney, England.

The best girls here could do was a time of one minute and 18 seconds, flat, turned in by Mrs. Dale Warden, 22.

But her time was just a bit slower than that of the winner of a similar race held a few hours earlier in Olney. The English winner—and international champion now that the race here is over—is Florence Callow, 18, who was timed in one minute and ten and two-fifths seconds.

It's an ancient tradition here," said the Rev. R. W. Collins, vicar of the church. "Now we are delighted to hear that it has become a brand new tradition in faraway Liberal, Kansas."

The race took on an international aspect when the vicar received a challenge from Liberal. He snapped it up, said he would stake his fleet footed English girls against Liberal, Kansas, any old Shrove Tuesday.

So there was careful timing with stop watches here and Liberal is challenged to beat Miss Callow's time achievement later today.

The vicar said he expects a trans-Atlantic telephone call at about 1 p.m. CST and that he awaits the results with utmost confidence.

Blue-eyed, athletic Miss Callow, carrying a skillet in which she tossed a griddle cake with great dexterity, covered the 415-yard distance between the Bull tavern and Saint Peter and Saint Paul church in one minute, 10 and two-fifths seconds.

She left two dozen competitors straggling in her wake.

American Envoy Barred From Seeing Prisoner During Confinement

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Feb. 21—(P)—American business man Robert A. Vogeler, Belgian-born wife of Robert A. Vogeler, received "calmly and courageously" today the news that her husband had been sentenced to 15 years in prison, a member of the family said.

With Mrs. Vogeler when she heard her husband's fate was Morris Ernst, New York attorney who tried in vain to obtain a visa from Communist Hungary so he could serve as Vogeler's counsel.

There was no immediate comment from Mrs. Vogeler.

She has told reporters in the past that her husband, an American engineer, had considered it a joke that he was shadowed by Hungarian detectives.

The death sentence was meted out to Imre Geiger, manager of the International Telephone and Telegraph Co.'s Budapest branch and Zoltan Radó, former department chief in Hungary's Ministry of Heavy Industry.

Tax-Evading Virginia Road
Builders Finally Get Caught

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—Around the giant Pentagon building, just across the Potomac, winds a labyrinth of beautiful boulevards built during the war at considerable cost to American taxpayers.

The other day in Richmond, Va., the two builders of these boulevards, McKenzie Davison and W. J. "Doc" Hardy, walked into court and pleaded "no contest" to four of six counts accusing them of defrauding the government of $217,806 in taxes—the same government which paid them handsomely on war contracts.

Behind this virtual plea of guilty lies a long story, dating back to October 1948, in which this column exposed Hardy and Davison, not only for income-tax evasion, but for political wire-pulling, concealment, and dodging. When this column published the story on Oct. 19, 1948, it was so sensational that some papers refused to print it.

The two road contractors had made out false invoices, written checks to other contractors, who then cashed the checks themselves, and generally falsified. Yet for eight months after this column's expose, they argued, pleaded, and haggled with patient Justice Department attorneys.

Finally, last July the case was sent to the U.S. attorney in Richmond for prosecution, where, however, it dragged. And it was not until after this column, on Oct. 21, 1949, again reviewed the lengthy delay that the tax-evading road builders finally were indicted.

Grave Russian Preparations

Perhaps the gravest briefing given to congressional leaders since V-J day took place at the Pentagon building last week. The substance of the closed-door session was that Russia must be preparing for aggressive war.

The briefing was given by Lt. Gen. Alfred Gruenther on behalf of the joint chiefs of staff to members of both the Senate and House Appropriations committees and Armed Services committees.

Gen. Gruenther was cautious in his statements, confined himself largely to a discussion of Soviet armed strength, let the Congressmen draw their own conclusions.

After listening to the report, however, Congressman Engel of Michigan, Sikes of Florida and Cannon of Missouri spoke out that Russia could have only one purpose in building such a powerful arsenal: to wage war.

Here are some of the main facts presented by Gen. Gruenther—facts which Moscow already knows since there is no particular secret about our armed strength. Russia, he said, is spending 18 per cent of her national wealth on arms, which is triple what the United States is spending. Even taking our top budget figure of $15,500,000,000—which includes stockpiling—the United States is investing only 6 per cent of her wealth in defense.

Russia has 40,000 tanks. This includes the best heavy tank in the world—the Joe Stalin Mark III. In contrast, the U.S. Army has only 7,000 tanks, none of them heavy. In the air, Russia has 17,000 planes, including 300 heavy bombers of the B-29 type. Meanwhile Soviet factories are working feverishly to build a strategic air force. Production of long-range bombers and jet fighters has been stepped up.

To challenge our Navy, the Russians have 280 submarines of the latest, speediest German make. Most worrisome, however, is a new Russian torpedo, piloted by an electronic brain that seeks out its own target. This ingenious torpedo can locate and blow up a ship eight miles away.

Despite all this firepower, the backbone of Soviet military might is still her manpower, Gen. Gruenther stressed. Russia can muster over 500 divisions at the drop of a bomb.

Johnson Keeps Quiet

Throughout the briefings, Secretary of Defense Johnson took a back seat and let military spokesmen talk. At one point, however, he broke in only to be slapped down by Congressman Sheppard of California.

Sheppard wanted to know how reliable the information on Soviet strength was, and while a civilian expert was trying to explain that the iron curtain is drawing tighter, Johnson tried to brush aside the question.

"If we can't get an answer," snapped Sheppard, "we may as well go home."

The Secretary of Defense subsided.

Some Senators and Congressmen feared the military chiefs were trying to scare Congress with their harrowing report into increasing appropriations. But, perhaps because of Johnson's stern eye, the military men made little positive comment.

Gen. Gruenther brushed aside questions about increased military needs by warning: "Don't ask me. I am liable to be biased."

Once he quipped: "As Senator Wherry has said, military people would fortify the moon."

Gruenther also warned that we must not bleed ourselves by overspending, that some people are too concerned about security and not enough about economy. Finally, Secretary of Defense Johnson broke in and suggested that the chiefs of staff should join Gen. Gruenther in answering some of the questions.

One by one, General Bradley, Army Chief of Staff Collins, and Chief of Naval Operations Sherman agreed that economy comes first. Johnson beamed like a schoolteacher whose pupils are reciting the correct answers.

Bradley reported that our occupation troops are in areas where they are strategically useful, and assured that we could meet any attack by quickly concentrating our forces.

Vandenberg Spills Beans

This harmony over economy was finally shattered, however, when Air Force Chief of Staff Vandenberg was asked about the Air Force's needs.

"Before Russia had the atomic bomb, the Air Force took the position that it needed 70 groups," replied Vandenberg coolly. "There is no reason to change that position now that Russia has the bomb."

The talk about economy was so unanimous, however, that it disturbed Senator Knowland of California. Though he usually preaches economy, he finally broke in: "I want to know what we should spend in the judgment of the military people, regardless of what we can afford. Congress and the executive branch will determine what we can afford. But we can't make a proper evaluation if the military is going to tell us what we can afford."

Gen. Vandenberg, however, remained the only definite dissenting voice to the general note of economy.

Truman on Red Lights

On his latest trip to Washington, New Orleans' busy beaver Mayor De Lesseps S. Morrison was telling President Truman about the "I-am-the-law" complex of political big shots in some foreign countries.

Not long ago, Morrison said, he was showing a foreign visitor the sights of New Orleans when the motorcade stopped suddenly for a red light. The visitor seemed puzzled.

"But you are the mayor," he said. "You are the power here. Is it necessary for you to stop for traffic lights?"

"Oh, yes, it is all the more necessary for me to uphold the law, because I am the mayor," replied Morrison.

Truman was impressed by the story, but said that indifference to minor laws, such as traffic regulations, wasn't limited to foreign politicians.

"Many of our own politicians feel the same way," remarked the President. "When they get up pretty high in office, they feel they have a right to special privileges in traffic. A man in high office has no more right to run through a red light—whether or not he is in a hurry—than anyone else. In fact, he should be all the more scrupulous about obeying the law, by virtue of his position."

Britain's Problem

A multimillionaire New England industrialist and Taft booster has a plan for helping England that makes New Dealers look like old fuddy-duddies.

He is civic-minded Austin T. Levy, who has given his home town of Harrisville, Rhode Island, a town hall, library, high school, and bridge. He says simply and earnestly, "the trouble with England is that the wages are too low."

Levy, who owns union textile mills and pays high wages himself, points out, "so long as Britain's wage scales are insufficient to enable the British people to buy what Britain makes, neither gifts of Marshall plan dollars nor depletion of the monetary fund will correct the condition. Britain's need is customers. By bringing wage scales and prices into workable relationship, the 45 million British people could easily absorb each year things which we have and they don't, from food to central heating to cars—to the tune of billions of dollars."

To make sure his hunch was right, Levy sent pricing experts to New York and London to compare prices and income. Pricing similar items, they found a refrigerator cost $161.85 more in London, a vacuum cleaner, $8.33 more; a suitcase, $17.28 more; a man's raincoat, $6.91 more; women's shoes, $1.82 more; and a matress, $20.50 more, for example.

Using his pencil and simple math, Levy came out with an astounding fact. The average American wage earner with a family has $1,082.53 a year to spend on clothing, furnishings, and entertainment items costing over here a total of $2,318.77. The average Britisher has $578.09 to buy the same items at a cost to him of $36.628.02.

So, said staunch Republican Levy, "Britain's problem is not dollars, but how to create higher living standards for her people."

Rocks Ahead in Memory Land

Congressmen trying to remember what they said last week have nothing on the officers and men of the U.S.S. Missouri, who are now trying to picture accurately what occurred just before the big ship struck a mudbank in Chesapeake Bay.

If the confusing testimony produced so far is a sample of what goes on aboard these proud craft, then sticking them away in mothballs would seem not only the most economical thing to do but the safest as well.

One can only conclude that the decision to lay up the Mighty Mo as a training ship saved her from the alternative of a hectic career of carving her way through stubborn shoals and splintering docks in harbors all around the globe.

• So They Say

The danger from Russia is not through the channel of invasion but infiltration, and protection against this lies through the cultivation of our community institutions rather than through hysterical censorship and mounting military budgets.

—Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, New York City Methodist minister.

—O—

It is obvious that the Congress is not going to enact Mr. Truman's civil rights proposal in full. I still am confident that if the Congress, in good faith, makes some real progress toward solving the civil rights problem, Mr. Truman will not reject it.

—Sen. Richard B. Russell (D) Georgia.

—O—

The water supply problem is a far more serious question than any of us realized five years ago. The West is not the only area that needs the development of new water sources. It is needed all over the country.

THE THIRD ENEMY—ANGER, RESENTMENTS

We have now looked at two of the fifteen enemies of the human personality: lack of a vital faith in God, and consequent self-centeredness. We now come to the third: Resentments, anger, and hate. In taking up these three we are entering the realm of the emotions.

This age is afraid of being emotional, and yet it is turning out to be a very emotional age; in fact, emotionalism is rampant. Most of this emotionalism is self-disruptive. An age that is afraid of emotion ends up in following the thing it fears. It has tried to suppress the emotions, and the emotions put out at the door have come back by the window.

For the emotions are a part of us and cannot be eliminated. All attempts at elimination end in complexes. They are pushed into the subconscious, and there they become a festering point. We cannot just aside the emotions; we can only direct them, sometimes redirect them to great aims and purposes. The emotions are the driving forces of the personality. They can drive us toward the rocks or toward the open seas of expanding accomplishment.

Take anger, for instance. It is an instinct of self-protection, and for the protection of others. It causes us to stand up and fight against harmful enemies of the human personality. We are angry with evil, and therefore we stiffen ourselves against it and oppose it. Otherwise we would allow it to invade us and others. Nietzsche is right when he says that "virtue is of no use unless it can be lashed into a rage." Otherwise we would be "moral cows in our plump comfortableness." Our capacity to love the good, determines our capacity to hate the evil. But note that it is our virtue that is to be lashed into a rage—not our pride, our hurt egoism, our fears. There is all the difference in the world between the two: one is harnessed to higher ends, hence constructive; the other is harnessed to the ends of a wounded self, and hence destructive. The one is a righteous anger, the other is unrighteous.

O God, I do not sail calm seas. I am driven by tempests of emotion. Help me to harness these to the purposes of Thy Kingdom, for unharmed they drive me to the rocks upon which both I and my relationships are broken. I surrender myself and my emotions to Thee. Amen.

Social Events

An illustrated talk on "Chinese Art" was given Monday afternoon at Sorosis by Miss Jeanne Harris, assistant to Laurence Sickman, curator of Oriental art at the Nelson Art Gallery in Kansas City. Miss Harris, who was a staff member at the Newark Museum, N. J., and later at the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art, gave an interesting history of Chinese art as she told of the various articles of bronze and jade shown in the slides and of the Chinese paintings.

The oldest art of the Chinese, of which there is knowledge, is 2000 B.C. but the craftsmanship was so good that it must have existed long before that, Miss Harris said.

The early bronze articles, the speaker said, were made as offerings to ancestors or spirits and were part of religious ceremonies. The first picture shown was that of a large bronze vessel that was used for cooking, Miss Harris said. Other pieces were wine vessels, a cosmetic box and a mirror. The mirror, Miss Harris said, was carved on the back and had a knob in the center to which was attached a cord to hold it by and the front was very highly polished to show the reflection. Bronze, she said, was not only gilded but was also often inlaid with gold and silver in its magnificent carvings.

Bronze sometimes was of a blue or green shade where it had been oxidized from burial in the earth, Miss Harris said.

Jade has been the material used most extensively in sculpture work, the speaker said, one reason being the various things that, to them, was symbolized in it, and their ability to work it into a thing of beauty with graceful curving designs. It is now used extensively for jewelry, she said.

The colors of jade range from white to brown and shades of green from very light to the blue-green of the evergreens, Miss Harris said, and she showed a number of carved pieces.

Chinese painting, the speaker said, is done either on silk or paper with ink or colors mixed with water. The artist holds his brush upright and makes vigorous strokes, she said, in which he catches the beauty of nature about him with outstanding perspective. The picture is not as looking through a window but gives the impression of continuing on. The Chinese artist's painting often represents poetry and within it he has painted actual poems such as "Song of the Guitar."

Figurine painting is also a favorite of Chinese artists in which they painted graceful Chinese women or officers, emperors or great characters whom they thought might have an influence on the Chinese people, Miss Harris said.

Pictures were painted in exquisite subdued shades usually using only two colors, pink and green, the speaker said, and the mist effect on silk was accomplished by not painting it at all.

One of the most remarkable pictures shown by Miss Harris was that of the "Dragon in the Clouds." The dragon, to the Chinese, is an omen of good luck, the speaker said, because it is supposed to come in the clouds which bring the rain to make the crops grow and thus bring prosperity. In the picture of the clouds of an approaching storm could be seen the graceful, curving body of the dragon.

To the Chinese, Miss Harris said, the most symbolic of the flowers is the lotus which symbolizes purity.

Miss Harris was introduced by Mrs. T. W. Croxton, art and drama chairman.

Mrs. Dimmitt Hoffman, vice president, presided over the meeting and announced the Washington tea which will be given Wednesday afternoon by members of the Sorosis and D.A.R. for the purpose of dedicating the Washington elm on the public library lawn.

Scenic Room Thursday evening. Phone Mrs. Hurbut, 3200, for reservations.

Magnolia Room at the Hotel Bothwell

The Bothwell hotel has a new and private dining room which has been named the Magnolia room. It was formerly used as and officers' club room while the Sedalia Army Air Base was open during the war.

The remodeling and re-decorating of the new room cost approximately $2,500, according to Fred B. Burger, manager of the hotel. This is only one of several remodeling and re-decorating projects which the hotel is to undergo this spring. The Ambassador room is to be next on the list and this work will be done at a cost estimated at $5,000.

The Magnolia room ceiling was lowered two and a half feet and covered with acoustone, a soundproofing material. New light fixtures are used and the walls have been covered with expensive wall paper with magnolia flowers, various types of wildlife in the foreground in green and white colors. The lower portion of the wall is painted in a golden buff and the baseboard and other trim in a grey-green.

Wall to Wall Rug

The floor is covered with wall-to-wall Wilton fireproof rug in green color to match. Thirty-five new chairs, with the easy back arrangement, covered in green leather are used. The room is so constructed it is absolutely soundproof and has been air conditioned.

It will be used for small meetings, dinners and wedding breakfasts and will accommodate from 10 to 35 persons, depending on the type of meeting, dinner or breakfast which it is to be used for.

The wall paper design is by H. Luit of Cleveland, Ohio. The construction work by Harold Dean Construction Co., and decorating by William Wright. The air conditioning is by Blue Young.

Other Improvements Planned

Mr. Burger stated the Ambassador room is to likewise be air conditioned and walls re-decorated and an extensive re-modeling job to be done. Arrangements are being made to serve from a small room off the Ambassador room instead of using temporary screens and cutting off a large portion of the east end of the room. When complete it is expected at least 175 persons can be served banquet-style there.

The liquor store is being disposed of. The partition which separated it from the Palm room is to be knocked out and the entire room re-decorated to conform with its name. It will also be used as a private dining and meeting room. It will be connected with the State Fair lounge and when necessary can be used in conjunction with the Lounge. This work is to be started within the next few weeks.

Mr. Burger also announced the dining room will undergo extensive repairs as will the lounge at a later date.

Lenten Service At St. Paul's

Mid-week Lenten services will be held each Wednesday evening for the next six weeks at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Broadway and Massachusetts avenue. All of the Lenten meditations will be based on the familiar Bible text, John 3, 16. The general theme of the entire series will be: "Our Great Salvation."

The first special Lenten service will be held this Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. Walter F. Strickert, pastor of the church, will preach on the subject: "The Author of Our Great Salvation." Special music will be featured by the choir.

Members and friends of the congregation are invited to attend all the Lenten services.

Paid Wolf Bounty

A wolf bounty of $10 was paid to R. L. Bealert, Hughesville, for one old wolf scalp he took to the office of County Clerk James Green.

Creston M. Clark

Creston M. Clark, 49 years old, died at the Bothwell hospital at 4:00 o'clock this morning. He had been a patient at the hospital for the past three weeks.

Mr. Clark was born at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, July 8, 1900, the son of the late Daniel and Emilie Martel Clark. His boyhood and early life was spent in Pennsylvania.

He was a veteran of World War I, serving in the navy for one enlistment and later enlisting in the army and serving for one year with the Eighth Cavalry.

He was a member of the American Legion, Pettis County Post 16, and a member of the Calvary Episcopal church.

After his discharge from the army, Mr. Clark came to Sedalia and has lived here continuously.

He was a member of the city fire department from 1934 to 1942, and was employed at the Sedalia Army Air Field during World War II. Since the war he has been

Important Events In World News

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(P)—Secretary of State Acheson told Congress today it is "doubly urgent" to continue the Marshall Plan because Russia is showing "signs of increasing boldness."

The Secretary said that sending American economic aid to Western Europe is essential of "the Kremlin's design for world dominion" is to be frustrated.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(P)—The House Banking committee approved an administration bill to et up a $2,000,000 corporation to encourage construction of homes for middle income families.

The vote was 11 to 4. Several committee members were absent when the vote was taken and can record their positions later. But a committee spokesman said this is not expected to overturn the majority favoring the legislation.

The Senate Banking committee probably will take up similar legislation later this week.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(P)—Out-boxed by the Republicans on one political issue, Senate Democratic leaders tried to rally their forces behind an administration legislative program.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the party leader, called Democrats into a caucus. (10 a.m. EST) after the Republicans came out on top in a bit of political maneuvering yesterday over establishment of a small business committee.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(P)—Cyrus Ching, Federal Mediation Director, gave the White House a report today on the threatened nationwide telephone strike on Friday.

Ching did not tell reporters just what he had advised the White House, but from all outward signs there is now a tight deadlock in negotiations between the Bell Telephone System and the CIO-Communications Workers of America.

Ching presumably talked with John Steelman, Presidential assistant who specializes in labor relations matters.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(P)—A Republican Senator's charges that two men and a woman make up a "big three" directing a spy ring in the state department headed today for an investigation by the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, told reporters he will propose that the committee look into accusations made by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) that 81 Communists either have or now work for the department.

McCarthy, who described these individuals from supposedly secret files in a five-hour Senate speech last night, said he would give their names to such a committee. He didn't give any in his speech.

Forecast on County's Share

The Better Roads committee of Missouri today forecast that Pettis county will get an estimated total amount of $186,476 in its rural road construction allotments if the proposed new good roads law is approved by the voters of Missouri on April 4.

The Missouri Highway Commission's average annual construction expenditure on farm-to-market roads over the last 10 years in Pettis county has been $39,777.

In addition the county also will benefit through planned improvements on the main highway system and urban construction programs in cities of population of 5000 or more.

The committee's forecast is predicted on the total estimated income the proposed new road law is expected to produce. The Missouri Highway Commission has estimated, under the existing allotment basis, that the new law will produce an additional annual income of $16,000,000, of which $8,000,000 will go for state rural roads in each county.

MoPac to Spend Over 5 Million

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 21—(P)—U.S. District Judge George H. Moore authorized the Missouri Pacific railroad Monday to spend $5,393,600 for capital improvements—including money for radio equipment on freight trains.

Broken down the authorization is $3,827,400 for the Missouri Pacific itself; $1,051,950 for the Gulf line, Mo. Pac. subsidiary, and $520,250 for the International-Great Northern.

In the order the railroad explained it had been experimenting with radio communication between the locomotives and cabooses of freight trains in Louisiana for the past two years as a method to increase rail safety.

Four trains between St. Louis and Kansas City are to be equipped within the next 30 days. All freight trains in the Central Kansas, Southern Kansas and Colorado divisions will be radio controlled.

The court order also authorizes $1,500,000 for the construction of a new freight station in St. Louis to replace two stations which have been in operation since 1879 and 1888 respectively.

Another $218,000 was earmarked for traffic control and improvement on tracks between Mill Springs, Mo., and Poplar Bluff.

Town Set Agog By Kiss For A Basketball Queen

BETHANY, Okla., Feb. 21—(P)—Five Bethany high school students were reported suspended from school indefinitely tonight for their role in a student walkout staged in rebellion to strict school rules.

The rebellion was touched off by a kiss given the basketball sweetheart at her coronation last Thursday.

Suspended were Jay Strader, 18, Paul Witherspoon, 16, Robert Hale, 16, Charles Wiman, 16 and Jenell Ellard, 16.

The kissing incident electrified this town of 2,500, just west of Oklahoma City.

Riddell Riggs, 16, crowned Charlotte McLain, 16, as basketball sweetheart and then kissed her. The student body had elected Miss McLain sweetheart and named Riggs her escort.

Public kissing is frowned upon in Bethany, where parishioners of the Nazarene church dominate affairs. Cigarettes, beer, school dances and women who wear shorts are taboo.

Although the high school is a public school, parents have complained officials are too strict with students. The Nazarene church also operates Bethany-Peniel college here.

Superintendent of schools Harry Edwards refused to comment on the suspensions. He declared: "I am not making any statements at all."

E. M. Strader, father of one of the suspended boys, said Edwards called him after school and "told me to tell Jay not to come back to school any more."

Parents of the Witherspoon and Hale boys told similar stories.

The students said they created no further disturbance at school Monday—acting on advice of their parents.

A citizens committee was formed Sunday to iron out the youngsters' problems. The committee originally planned to meet tonight at a private home but had to move the meeting to the American Legion hall in order to accommodate parents who attended.

Things began to jump last Friday. About 30 students walked out of classes partially in rebellion against the strict rules and because they said they feared the kissing episode would get them in trouble anyway.

The teen-agers staged a downtown automobile parade but were halted by police who told them to get a permit. They stormed the office of Mayor S. P. Dawson. He, too, denied them a permit "Because we don't want them parading around with those signs on their cars."

Most of the cars carried signs denouncing the alleged lack of freedom in the school.

Then the youths Saturday took their fight to the Daily Oklahoman in nearby Oklahoma City. The

Quit as Democrat; Stays as Republican

PALMYRA, Mo., Feb. 21—(P)—E. H. Difflerhorst resigned today as a Democratic member of the Marion county highway commission, but remained as a Republican member of the county social security board.

Both boards are bi-partisan, with two members of each party.

Difflerhorst's action followed newspaper stories last week that he held jobs on the boards—each one as a member of a different party.

Difflerhorst described himself as a Republican, but added: "I voted for Truman once so I guess the Democrats considered me one of them."

Difflerhorst is a Marion county farmer and former member of the county court.

Decorating Letters For Collectors

ST. PATRICK, Mo., Feb. 21—(P)—A Roman Catholic priest, the Rev. Francis O'Duignan, has taken over the annual task of decorating letters for stamp collectors who like to get envelopes from here on March 17.

The work formerly was done in the postoffice, but the department in Washington ruled it was against postal regulations to affix anything but the routine stamp cancellation on postoffice premises.

So the letters now have to be addressed to Father O'Duignan, Phone 1000!

Directors For Roads Group

From Both Parties To Advocate Gas Tax Increase

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 21—(P)—The better roads committee drew from the rosters of both political parties today in selecting its board of directors. The committee is heading the fight for popular approval of Gov. Forrest Smith's gas tax increase law.

Richard Muckerman of St. Louis president of the committee, said in announcing the names of the 13 directors:

"These outstanding businessmen and civic leaders recognize the real need for getting more money for our state highway department if Missouri is to maintain and extend its present highway system."

"There is no politics in this good roads program. There could be no greater evidence of this than the list of directors. They are prominent in both major political parties. x x x"

Chosen By Districts

The directors, listed by the congressional districts they will represent in the committee's campaign leading up to the special referendum election April 4:

First—Louis J. Huegel, Hannibal hotel owner.

Fifth—Albert F. Hillix of Kansas City, lawyer and former president of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce.

Sixth—Claude C. Earp of Nevada, former chairman of the state highway commission and former director of Missouri's selective service system.

Phone Exhibit For St. Louis

An unusual exhibit reaches St. Louis Monday, February 27, according to T. M. Mullaly, manager of Southwestern Bell. Called "Looking Ahead With the Bell System," the exhibit displays by actual demonstrations and working models some of the amazing new developments in the art of communication. "Looking Ahead" was developed by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., Mullaly says, and Southwestern Bell feels it is lucky to be able to present it in St. Louis for a three-week period from February 27 through March 17. Special exhibits have been added graphically portraying St. Louis' position in such communication "firsts" as television, radio, telephones.

Mullaly pointed out that "The telephone is 74 years old this year. Its development within a single lifetime has been a modern miracle. Yet this is only the beginning. The future will see greater progress than the past has ever known. The telephone's future is being built on firm foundations on the ceaseless search for new and better devices and methods; on the loyalty and skill of hundreds of thousands of men and women who build and operate the voiceways; on the confidence of hundreds of thousands of people in all walks of life who invest their savings to enlarge and improve the telephone plant. These have given America the best telephone service the world knows today—and for tomorrow they hold out the promise of still greater things to come."

Plans are under way for an "Open House" to be held in the Sedalia telephone office sometime in April. "Everyone in Sedalia will have a chance to see the telephone system at work, as well as to view several interesting exhibits," Mullaly said.

"There is no politics in this good roads program. There could be no greater evidence of this than the list of directors. They are prominent in both major political parties. x x x"

Telephone Workers Get Good Wages, PLUS...

GOOD PAY IS only one of the factors in a telephone job. On the plus side, in addition to the wages shown below, are these advantages:

REGULAR RAISES

Telephone men and women receive regular, progression increases in wages from the time they start until they reach their top rates. These raises come along regularly, according to a definite schedule. Under present contracts, three out of four telephone people will get such increases during 1950.

STEADY WORK

Telephone jobs give year round work. That means regular pay checks and an assured annual income. After all, annual income is the best test of earnings.

PAID VACATIONS

One to three weeks a year, depending on length of service. Also, seven holidays a year with pay.

GOOD WORKING CONDITIONS

Telephone people have congenial co-workers. Their work is pleasant and interesting. They help provide a vital service and are respected members of the community.

SECURITY

Employees get sickness and death benefits up to a year's pay—at no cost to them. They can look forward, with 20 or more years' service at age 65, to a pension of at least $100 a month, including social security, and pensions to many employees will be even higher.

CHANCES TO ADVANCE

Promotions are made from within the company and there is opportunity for able and ambitious men and women to advance to better jobs.

Any way you look at it, telephone people have good jobs. They have good wages, good working conditions, liberal benefits and pensions, a chance to get ahead.

There is no justification for union leaders' demands for a "fourth-round" boost in wages which already compare favorably with those paid by other businesses in the community for work requiring similar skill and experience.

There is no reason for asking telephone users, who ultimately must pay the bill for increased costs of providing service, to support "premium pay" for telephone jobs.

Congressman Fined For Poke

'No Fleas,' He Says After Couple Of Nights In Jail

By Roger D. Greene

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(AP)—Spry 61-year-old Rep. Fred L. Crawford (R-Mich) returned to a back-slapping ovation on capitol hill Monday after spending two nights in jail to uphold "the principle that congressmen should not have any special privileges."

Crawford pleaded guilty to assault charges in Prince Georges county, Md., police court and paid a $28.50 fine for taking a poke at a well-muscled young prizefighter law student who works for him.

"It was worth it," Crawford told reporter. "I had a restful weekend—no fleas but a lot of friends."

Back at his congressional chores, he promptly announced:

"I'm thinking seriously of suing the authorities who kept me in jail. I've got them cold for unlawful detention."

Associates said Crawford was considering a possible $50,000 suit against Maryland State's Attorney A. Gwynn Bowie and other officials of Prince Georges county.

The wealthy Michigan lawmaker, who owns a 260-acre Maryland farm, had insisted on staying in the red-brick bastille at upper Marboro, Md., following his arrest Saturday for punching 23-year-old Fred Hanbury in the eye.

Hanbury, who fought six professional fights as a lightweight, has been a tenant on Crawford's farm and an aide on the legislator's congressional staff.

Was Personal Dispute

Neither would disclose details of the dispute that led to the one-punch episode on Crawford's farm, except that it was a "personal matter" involving a girl stenographer in the congressman's office.

Hanbury indicated it had something to do with office routine and a clash of temperaments.

The young boxer, whose wife and small child live with him on the Crawford farm, said he was discussing the altercation with Crawford and made some remark about the girl stenographer.

"That was when Crawford hit me."

When first arrested, he (Crawford) had offered to put up cash, or securities worth as much as $50,000.

But Maryland officials insisted at the outset that under the law he could only go free by putting up a real estate bond or by going through a professional bondsman. Later they made harrowing efforts to backtrack and let him go on his own recognition, but he refused.

After paying a $25 fine and $3.50 court costs today, Crawford told newsmen he had fired Hanbury but wouldn't put him off his farm until Hanbury can find a new place to live.

On capitol hill, colleagues gathered around Crawford pumping his hand and gleefully hailing him as "our hero." He went right back to work, telling reporters:

"It was the first weekend in a long time that I haven't been bothered with 17,000 telephone calls."

Admits Choking Man to Death

NEW YORK, Feb. 21—(AP)—A buxom blonde, trapped by a scribbled note of death and devotion, was accused Monday of choking a married lover to death as he slept in their hotel room.

Police said Mrs. Barbara Barzani, 37, of Manhattan, admitted she strangled Anthony Gallo, a 36-year-old liquor company truck driver.

Two days of drinking in taverns and staying overnight in hotels led up to the slaying.

Gallo's body, a towel tight around his neck, was found on a bed in the Grand Union hotel Saturday.

A note near the body read "He made me do this and I love him. Barbara."

Beside the note on a table was $246 in cash. Two telephone num-

Charge Two With Sodomy

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 21—(AP)—James T. Riley, Cole county prosecuting attorney, filed complaints against two Jefferson City men Monday charging them with "the detestable and abominable crime against nature."

He said he filed the charges under the law against sodomy.

Named as defendants were Phillip Murray, Bryant, 38, who resigned yesterday as art instructor at Jefferson City Junior college, and Harold Meyerhardt, 38, Jefferson City clothing merchant.

They were charged with acts allegedly occurring last April.

Both posted $1,000 bonds. Bryant waived preliminary hearing before Magistrate Foster S. Wheatley and his case will go on the May docket of circuit court.

Meyerhardt pleaded innocent. His preliminary hearing was set for March 2.

Riley said his investigation is continuing.

Talk Farley For Governor

NEW YORK, Feb. 21—(AP)—

The New York Times said Monday a "distinct and sizable" movement is developing to have Jas. A. Farley run for governor of New York on the Democratic ticket next fall.

The Times also reports a growing feeling among Republicans that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey again will allow himself to be nominated by the Republicans for reelection.

An Albany, N. Y., dispatch by Leo Egan says the Farley boom appears to have started in upstate rural regions, where the former postmaster general and Democratic national chairman has had strong organizational ties.

Lately, the story says, the movement has made headway in a number of urban centers, including Queens county, one of New York City's five boroughs.

Predicts Giants Will Finish Second

SANFORD, Fla., Feb. 21—(P)—Carl Hubbell, New York Giants farm system director, today predicted the Giants will finish second in the National league.

Said Hubbell: "I feel that the Brooklyn Dodgers will be the ones to beat. They are young and have a lot of hustle. They are in the driver's seat mainly because they were the flag winners last year."

"But you can rest assured that the aggregation now assembled under the direction of Leo Du Rocher, Giants manager, will give the Brooklyn crew all a run for their money."

The former Giant lefty predicted Boston and Philadelphia will probably finish third and fourth.

Hubbell warned the opponents to look for an improved Giants pitching staff.

"Our pitchers are not so poor as most observers believe. With Larry Jansen, Monte Kennedy and Sheldon Jones forming a nucleus around which to build, we will be potent on the mound in '50," he observed.

New hurlers will include right-hander George Bamberger and Lefty Roger Bowman. Bowman 15, Bamberger 14 with Jersey City. Others are Dick Adair, Bill Miller, bonus player Lou Sleater who pitched for Jacksonville last year, and Oswald Kolwe.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

"BUY AN APPLE, MISTER?"—The apple seller remains the symbol of America's great depression of the Thirties, the memory of which remains vivid and fearful in many minds today. The dramatic spark which touched it off was the stock market crash of 1929. But it was not until late in 1930 that the average, thrifty, hard-working wage-earner really felt the jolt. Conditions became harsher through 1931 and by 1932 millions were jobless; business was stagnating. How we got out of it is still a subject of bitter controversy. There came the "New Deal," the bank holiday and the pump-priming measures, the NRA, the CCC, the WPA and NYA. World War II came and it was momentarily forgotten, but the awful shadow of the Big Depression and its apple sellers will long remain.

damages and $100,000 punitive.

The couple married in June, 1946, and Brodsky said his wife left him in April, 1948, after her father had taken her on an extended vacation in Cuba.

She sued for divorce here in June 1948, but the suit was dismissed. Later she obtained a divorce in Kansas City, and Brodsky appealed the case.

Progress On Sewer Project In Past Month

Report Given To Council By The Resident Engineer

Richard Lindemood, resident engineer for the sewer project now under construction in Sedalia, made the following report on its progress, to members of the City Council, meeting in regular session Monday night:

February 15, 1950

"To The Honorable Mayor and Members of the City Council Sedalia, Missouri.

"Progress Report on Sanitary Sewer Improvement Project and Treatment Plant Construction.

"Gentlemen:

"The following is a report of the progress during the month of January 1950 on the Sanitary Sewer Improvement Project and the construction program for the South, North and West Treatment Plants.

"At the South Treatment Plant work on the Digester Control Building consisted of setting equipment, installation of pipe work and installation of precast concrete roof slabs. Pumps and pipe work were installed in the pump structure. The concrete work on the Influent Structure was approximately 30% completed. Yard piping was approximately 85% completed. Arrangements were made to have filter rock hauled in during February.

Work proceeded on installation of equipment in the Primary and Secondary Clarifiers. The electricians set the control panel in the Control Building and have installed most of the conduit and pull boxes for power distribution to the various structures.

Work done to date represents approximately 88% completion of the project and indications are that unless they are hampered by extremely bad weather, the contractor will have this plant in operation by March 15th.

"At the North Treatment Plant the Control Building brick work is better than 90% completed and the interior walls have been completed. Work continued on process piping in the Digester. Installation of Primary Clarifier equipment continued. Yard piping is about 50% completed. The filter block tile was installed with the exception of one small area which will be finished in February. Most of the pump structure concrete work has been completed and forming for concrete work proceeded on the Influent Structure. Most of the conduit for the underground power distribution system has been installed. Work done to date represents approximately 74% completion of the project.

"At the West Treatment Plant the concrete walls up to the operating floor slab were poured and shoring for the operating floor slab was put in position. Work proceeded on yard piping which is now approximately 40% completed. Some conduit for the underground power distribution system was installed. Necessary alterations to the existing dosing tank were started. Work done to date represents approximately 54% completion of the project.

"Work on the sewer project during January was mostly in the Northwest, North and East Districts with a small amount of tile being laid on Warren Ave. in the West District. The work on Warren Avenue has been temporarily halted, but will be completed the latter part of February or the first part of March. In the Northwest District excavation was in progress and 12" tile was laid for Main "A" on Ohio Avenue south from Clay Street to Henry Street and thence East along Henry Street. Main "C" consisting of 8" tile extending South from Henry street on Washington Avenue and Main "F" in the North District consisting of 8" tile extending North from Boonville Street on Engineer Avenue to the alley between Jackson and Tower streets were completed this month. Also in the North District the section of 6" cast iron force main between Saline street and the North Pump station located East of Heard Street and South of Saline was completed. In the East District work was started on the continuation of Main "N" consisting of 8" sewer tile between Merriam Avenue and the East Pump Station located North of 14th street and West of Merriam Avenue.

Sewer tile laid this month consisted of 2,229 linear feet. By the end of January the total amount of sewer laid amounted to approximately 38,493 linear feet, which combined with man holes constructed and work done on the pump stations represents approximately 81% completion of the project."

"Respectfully submitted,

Hot Session On McCarthy Charge

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(P)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) told the Senate Monday that a White House speech writer, whom he did not name, is a member of Communist-front organizations.

McCarthy made his charge at an angry session during which the Senate sergeant-at-arms was instructed to go out and arrest absent senators to provide a quorum.

Forty-nine senators were rounded up and the Senate stayed in session, listening to McCarthy, until 11:43 p. m. EST. Then it recessed until 11 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Miners Continue Defiance

Given Until Friday To Clear Selves of Contempt of Court; Refuse to Dig Coal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(AP)—Union miners defied anew today a court order to end their strike. And, they refused to dig coal even though frigid blasts bit into the nation's almost-exhausted fuel supplies.

Below-freezing temperatures blanketed much of the country as the miners continued their "no contract, no work" walkout. Rationing of coal supplies spread rapidly with the prospect of hardships arising in many areas from effects of the cold wave.

Reports from the coal field continued to show a rebellious indifference on the part of the 372,000 striking union workers to the situation.

A fire company was forced to ram through a road block on miner pickets in Western Pennsylvania to put out a fire at a non-union surface mine. Another fire company was barred from the scene by a barrage of stones.

Blamed Pickets

Pennsylvania state police blamed the fire on the pickets, who also upset automobiles of working miners and caused other property damage. Police Sgt. Marcus White estimated 2,000 miner pickets were roaming the area, 80 miles from Pittsburgh, in an effort to close down all non-union mines seeking to operate.

In Washington, center of court action against the miners to get them back to work and of continuing contract negotiations, there was little encouraging news.

At the White House, Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters "there will be nothing on coal here today."

Asked about recurring reports that seizure of the mines is "inevitable," Ross said he could not prophecy beyond today.

UMW President John L. Lewis and soft coal negotiations went on with their contract.

No Progress

At a luncheon recess, George Love, an operator representative, was asked about progress. "I didn't see any," he replied.

The continued defiance of a federal court order to resume work endangered the entire treasury of the UMW, estimated variously at from $13,000,000 to $20,000,000.

The United Mine Workers—but not President John L. Lewis personally—was cited for contempt of court here yesterday by Judge Richmond B. Keech, who had issued the back-to-work order.

The union was given until Friday to clear itself of contempt by getting the 372,000 idle miners back to work. Union lawyers were told to explain Friday, if the men are still out.

That didn't seem to bother the miners. They expressed such comments in the Pennsylvania fields as, "nobody is going to pay any attention to a contempt citation." Another: "Let them fine us until our money is gone."

Mine disorders were reported, especially in Eastern Kentucky.

Petition to Truman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(AP)—A petition, bearing 17,000 signatures, and urging President Truman to order striking soft coal miners back to work will be presented to the White House today by two Binghamton, N.Y., men.

The two, Arthur J. Bale, an employee of the Endicott-Johnson Shoe Corp., and John Donnelly, representing Binghamton, Johnson City and Endicott, said in industry in the tri-city area faces an almost complete shutdown unless coal is forthcoming.

Federal Agent Dies While Making Raid

MCALISTER, Okla., Feb. 21—(AP)—An agent for the federal alcohol tax unit died after a heart attack during a raid on a moonshine still.

Oliver Cornelius, 53, of Ardmore, had gone yesterday to the still northeast of here with Harold Lee, a federal agent from McAlester, and Constable Duke Neils of Krebs.

The officers had made one arrest and were about to chop up several kegs of the moonshine whisky when Cornelius complained of a pain in his chest.

Reports Given To Council On Monday Night

Include The Fire Department And On Fiscal Affairs

The City Council met in regular session Monday night, Mayor Julian H. Bagby presiding. A report on the fire department for the year was read, and will appear in detail elsewhere in this paper within the next few days. A report was also read from the Twelve Mile Road District Commissioners. This will also appear in detail in the county's financial statement, to be published in a few days.

Leppert Brothers were granted an extension of time in completing the southside sewer treatment plant, scheduled to have been completed in February. The delay, they state, is partly due to the inability to get materials to meet qualifications brought in during January.

Renewal license were granted to Harlan Trimble, doing business at Goldin's market, 206 West Main street, for five per cent package beer; Mrs. Iva Rice, doing business at the Old Missouri Homestead, 421 South Lamme avenue, liquor by the drink; Gladys Alpert, 608 South Ohio avenue, package liquor; Mrs. Roy Osten, doing business as the J. and O. cafe 1717 West Broadway, retail 3.2 beer; transfer of wholesale beer license, Ben J. Fehtel, doing business as the Stag Sales Company, 1822 South Ingram avenue, to 204 South Montgomery avenue.

Finance Committee Report

A report by the finance committee, Elmer Summers, chairman, was read, as follows:

"To the Mayor and the Members of the City Council of the City of Sedalia, Mo.

"Gentlemen:

"As chairman of your finance committee, I have spent some time recently checking our operations for the first eight (8) months of our fiscal year from May 1, 1949, to December 31, 1949, and I am pleased with some of the findings and in other cases I believe we could make improvements.

"Our collections for the period stated total $412,299.72 and our disbursements $302,704.92, this is exclusive of the bond account through which we have constructed and finished the two swimming pools and have the sewer project approximately fifty per cent (50%) finished.

The figures above show that we have collected about $110,000 more than we have spent but we still have to finish the year to April 30, 1950, which is four (4) months more and we all know that our total collections will drop off and it will be necessary to use some of the excess collection to take care of our general operating expense. Also, we will have sewer and park bonds and the interest thereon due in March of this year and also the airport bonds and interest which will total approximately $85,000, so you will see that our collections will have to make up the difference in order for us to stay within our revenue.

So much for the actual figures. Our budget shows that we have overspent our anticipated disbursements in the amount of $7,902.49 for the eight (8) months period stated above and this will have to be reduced if we are to stay within the budget total of $515,832, and I know that everyone will give their assistance in this effort. Our yearly statement has been published in the local newspapers for the benefit of those interested in the operation of their city and we will soon have another booklet showing the complete operation of all departments for the past four (4) years, a copy of which will be mailed to each taxpayer in the city. I wish to thank each and everyone for their cooperation during the past and for the efforts which have made these results possible.

"Respectfully submitted by:
Elmer C. Summers, Chairman,
Committee on Finance and Taxes."

Aid Possible For Heavily Used Roads

Plan Raises Total Mileage Now Getting Federal Assistance

By G. Milton Kelly

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(AP)—The Bureau of Public Roads says it is "possible under existing federal legislation" to extend government aid to some 100,000 miles of heavily-traveled rural roads.

This, the bureau said in a report to a Senate public works subcommittee, would permit federal aid to "practically all of the local roads" carrying 100 or more vehicles daily, and raises to about 700,000 the total mileage which the government helps maintain.

The committee had asked for the report to guide it in a study of bills proposing that federal aid for secondary roads be made a regular budget item.

The bureau made no recommendations along this line but it suggested that local governments might have more money to spend on roads if they corrected "evident weaknesses" in road administration and quit "logrolling."

Needed Repairs Costly

The board estimated that needed repairs to local-kept county, township and other rural roads would cost approximately $7,200,000 over a period of years.

It also found that 40 percent of all local roads don't carry any more than 10 vehicles a day, and that many of the roads are "wholly nonessential." It recommended abandonment of 400,000 miles of such roads.

"Mileage of this character is extensive in Kansas, New Mexico, North and South Dakota," it continued. "In those four states alone an inventory reveals some 57,000 miles, about 27 per cent, of their local mileage that are considered nonessential."

Texas, the report said, has 173,694 miles of local rural highway that gets no federal aid—more than any other state. Others with big mileage that gets no federal help include Kansas 102,633 and Missouri 89,571.

18-Year-Old Girl is Champion Pancake Racer of England

LIBERAL, Kas., Feb. 21—(AP)—Housewives of Liberal gave it a good try today, but their first running of a pancake race failed to top the showing of the women of Olney, England.

The best girls here could do was a time of one minute and 18 seconds, flat, turned in by Mrs. Dale Warden, 22.

But her time was just a bit slower than that of the winner of a similar race held a few hours earlier in Olney. The English winner—and international champion now that the race here over—was Florence Callow, 18, who was timed in one minute and ten and two-fifths seconds.

By Alvin J. Steinkopf
OLNEY, England, Feb. 21—(AP)—Florence Callow, 18-year-old girl of Olney became the champion pancake racer of England today. She set up a fast time for the girls of Liberal, Kansas, who will try to beat her this afternoon.

The vicar said he expects a trans-Atlantic telephone call at about 1 p. m. CST and that he awaits the results with utmost confidence.

Blue-eyed, athletic Miss Callow, carrying a skillet in which she tossed a griddle cake with great dexterity, covered the 415-yard distance between the Bull tavern and Saint Peter and Saint Paul church in one minute, 10 and two-fifths seconds.

She left two dozen competitors straggling in her wake.

American Envoy Barred From Seeing Prisoner During Confinement

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Feb. 21—(AP)—American business man Robert A. Vogeler, received "calmly and courageously" today the news that her husband had been sentenced to 15 years in prison, a member of the family said.

With Mrs. Vogeler when she heard her husband's fate was Morris Ernst, New York attorney who tried in vain to obtain a visa from Communist Hungary so he could serve as Vogeler's counsel.

There was no immediate comment from Mrs. Vogeler.

She has told reporters in the past that her husband, an American engineer, had considered it a joke that he was shadowed by Hungarian detectives.

The death sentence was meted out to Imre Geiger, manager of the International Telephone and Telegraph Co.'s Budapest branch, and Zoltan Rado, former department chief in Hungary's Ministry of Heavy Industry.

Edgar Sanders, Vogeler's aide in the I. T. & T. branch, Standard Electric Works, was sentenced to 13 years.

Announce Appeal

The same prosecution announced an appeal when Josef Cardinal Mindszenty was sentenced to life imprisonment for plotting against the state. The Cardinal also appealed, but the original sentence in the case were unchanged by the higher court.

(In New York the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation said it was sending proof to the U. S. State Department of the "complete falsity" of the charges against Vogeler. A company statement said the trial was "a revision to the inhumanities of the dark ages.")

The other defendants, all Hungarians, received these sentences:

The Rev. Istvan Justh, Roman Catholic Priest, 10 years.

Koleman Domokos, accountant in the standard company, 10 years.

Edina Doty, a barmaid, five years.

The court then ordered that Vogeler and Sanders be expelled from this country when they finish their sentences; forbidden to return "forever more." Their personal assets in Hungary will be confiscated.

John Guy Gibson of Jefferson City, finance chairman for the committee, said contributions seem to be coming in "pretty good." He said the goal in the drive to pass a four cent gasoline tax law at a special referendum election April 4 is about $75,000.

Last week a Republican legislator, Rep. W. D. Cruse of Eldorado Springs, charged that state employees were being "lugged" for money in the gas tax campaign—that is, told to give money if they value their jobs.

Hendren denied that today. He said he is helping out but added,

"We're not putting the lug on any state employee. There's no truth to that at all."

"I don't know of a single state employee who has been asked to contribute a nickel to the campaign and they won't be asked to."

Basketball Player Killed

The accident occurred when the youth started to move a wood-sawing rig he and his father, Harvey L. Childers, were operating at their home four and a half miles west of here.

Twenty-six runs were made to fires of undetermined origin.

Tax-Evading Virginia Road Builders Finally Get Caught

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—Around the giant Pentagon building, just across the Potomac, winds a labyrinth of beautiful boulevards built during the war at considerable cost to American taxpayers.

The other day in Richmond, Va., the two builders of these boulevards, McKenzie Davison and W. J. "Doc" Hardy, walked into court and pleaded "no contest" to four of six counts accusing them of defrauding the government of $217,806 in taxes—the same government which paid them handsomely on war contracts.

Behind this virtual plea of guilty lies a long story, dating back to October 1948, in which this column exposed Hardy and Davison, not only for income-tax evasion, but for political wire-pulling, concealment, and dodging. When this column published the story on Oct. 19, 1948, it was so sensational that some papers refused to print it.

The two road contractors had made out false invoices, written checks to other contractors, who then cashed the checks themselves, and generally falsified. Yet for eight months after this column's exposé, they argued, pleaded, and haggled with patient Justice Department attorneys.

Finally, last July the case was sent to the U.S. attorney in Richmond for prosecution, where, however, it dragged. And it was not until after this column, on Oct. 21, 1949, again reviewed the lengthy delay that the tax-evading road builders finally were indicted.

Grave Russian Preparations

Perhaps the gravest briefing given to congressional leaders since V-J day took place at the Pentagon building last week. The substance of the closed-door session was that Russia must be preparing for aggressive war.

The briefing was given by Lt. Gen. Alfred Gruenther on behalf of the joint chiefs of staff to members of both the Senate and House Appropriations committees and Armed Services committees.

Gen. Gruenther was cautious in his statements, confined himself largely to a discussion of Soviet armed strength, let the Congressmen draw their own conclusions.

After listening to the report, however, Congressman Engel of Michigan, Sikes of Florida and Cannon of Missouri spoke out that Russia could have only one purpose in building such a powerful arsenal: to wage war.

Here are some of the main facts presented by Gen. Gruenther—facts which Moscow already knows since there is no particular secret about our armed strength. Russia, he said, is spending 18 per cent of her national wealth on arms, which is triple what the United States is spending. Even taking our top budget figure of $15,500,000,000—which includes stockpiling—the United States is investing only 6 per cent of her wealth in defense.

Russia has 40,000 tanks. This includes the best heavy tank in the world—the Joe Stalin Mark III. In contrast, the U.S. Army has only 7,000 tanks, none of them heavy. In the air, Russia has 17,000 planes, including 300 heavy bombers of the B-29 type. Meanwhile Soviet factories are working feverishly to build a strategic air force. Production of long-range bombers and jet fighters has been stepped up.

To challenge our Navy, the Russians have 280 submarines of the latest, speediest German make. Most worrisome, however, is a new Russian torpedo, piloted by an electronic brain that seeks out its own target. This ingenious torpedo can locate and blow up a ship eight miles away.

Despite all this firepower, the backbone of Soviet military might is still her manpower. Gen. Gruenther stressed, Russia can muster over 500 divisions at the drop of a bomb.

Johnson Keeps Quiet

Throughout the briefings, Secretary of Defense Johnson took a back seat and let military spokesmen talk. At one point, however, he broke in only to be slapped down by Congressman Sheppard of California.

Sheppard wanted to know how reliable the information on Soviet strength was, and while a civilian expert was trying to explain that the iron curtain is drawing tighter, Johnson tried to brush aside the question.

"If we can't get an answer," snapped Sheppard, "we may as well go home."

The Secretary of Defense subsided.

Some Senators and Congressmen feared the military chiefs were trying to scare Congress with their harrowing report into increasing appropriations. But, perhaps because of Johnson's stern eye, the military men made little positive comment.

Gen. Gruenther brushed aside questions about increased military needs by warning: "Don't ask me. I am liable to be biased."

Once he quipped: "As Senator Wherry has said, military people would fortify the moon."

Gruenther also warned that we must not bleed ourselves by overspending, that some people are too concerned about security and not enough about economy. Finally, Secretary of Defense Johnson broke in and suggested that the chiefs of staff should join Gen. Gruenther in answering some of the questions.

One by one, Generals Bradley, Army Chief of Staff Collins, and Chief of Naval Operations Sherman agreed that economy comes first. Johnson beamed like a schoolteacher whose pupils are reciting the correct answers.

Bradley reported that our occupation troops are in areas where they are strategically useful, and assured that we could meet any attack by quickly concentrating our forces.

Vandenberg Spills Beans

This harmony over economy was finally shattered, however, when Air Force Chief of Staff Vandenberg was asked about the Air Force's needs.

"Before Russia had the atomic bomb, the Air Force took the position that it needed 70 groups," replied Vandenberg coolly. "There is no reason to change that position now that Russia has the bomb."

The talk about economy was so unanimous, however, that it disturbed Senator Knowland of California. Though he usually preaches economy, he finally broke in: "I want to know what we should spend in the judgment of the military people, regardless of what we can afford. Congress and the executive branch will determine what we can afford. But we can't make a proper evaluation if the military is going to tell us what we can afford."

Gen. Vandenberg, however, remained the only definite dissenting voice to the general note of economy.

Truman on Red Lights

On his latest trip to Washington, New Orleans' busy beaver Mayor De Lesseps S. Morrison was telling President Truman about the "I-am-the-law" complex of political big shots in some foreign countries.

Not long ago, Morrison said, he was showing a foreign visitor the sights of New Orleans when the motorcycle stopped suddenly for a red light. The visitor seemed puzzled.

"But you are the mayor," he said. "You are the power here. Is it necessary for you to stop for traffic lights?"

"Oh, yes, it is all the more necessary for me to uphold the law, because I am the mayor," replied Morrison.

Truman was impressed by the story, but said that indifference to minor laws, such as traffic regulations, wasn't limited to foreign politicians.

"Many of our own politicians feel the same way," remarked the President. "When they get up pretty high in office, they feel they have a right to special privileges in traffic. A man in high office has no more right to run through a red light—whether or not he is in a hurry—than anyone else. In fact, he should be all the more scrupulous about obeying the law, by virtue of his position."

Britain's Problem

A multimillionaire New England industrialist and Taft booster has a plan for helping England that makes New Dealers look like old fuddy-duddies.

He is civic-minded Austin T. Levy, who has given his home town of Harrisville, Rhode Island, a town hall, library, high school, and bridge. He says simply and earnestly, "the trouble with England is that the wages are too low."

Levy, who owns union textile mills and pays high wages himself, points out, "so long as Britain's wage scales are insufficient to enable the British people to buy what Britain makes, neither gifts of Marshall plan dollars nor depletion of the monetary fund will correct the condition. Britain's need is customers. By bringing wage scales and prices into workable relationship, the 45 million British people could easily absorb each year things which we have and they don't, from food to central heating to cars—to the tune of billions of dollars."

To make sure his hunch was right, Levy sent pricing experts to New York and London to compare prices and income. Pricing similar items, they found a refrigerator cost $161.85 more in London, a vacuum cleaner, $8.33 more; a suitcase, $17.28 more; a man's raincoat, $6.91 more; women's shoes, $1.82 more; and a matress, $20.50 more, for example.

Using his pencil and simple math, Levy came out with an astounding fact. The average American wage earner with a family has $1,082.53 a year to spend on clothing, furnishings, and entertainment items costing over here a total of $2,318.77. The average Britisher has $578.00 to buy the same items at a cost to him of $3,628.02.

So, said staunch Republican Levy, "Britain's problem is not dollars, but how to create higher living standards for her people."

Rocks Ahead in Memory Land

Congressmen trying to remember what they said last week have nothing on the officers and men of the U.S. Missouri, who are now trying to picture accurately what occurred just before the big ship struck a mudbank in Chesapeake Bay.

If the confusing testimony produced so far is a sample of what goes on aboard these proud craft, then sticking them away in mothballs would seem not only the most economical thing to do but the safest as well.

One can only conclude that the decision to lay up the Mighty Mo as a training ship saved her from the alternative of a hectic career of carving her way through stubborn shoals and splintering docks in harbors all around the globe.

• So They Say

The danger from Russia is not through the channel of invasion but infiltration, and protection against this lies through the cultivation of our community institutions rather than through hysterical censorship and mounting military budgets.

—Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, New York City Methodist minister.

It is obvious that the Congress is not going to enact Mr. Truman's civil rights proposal in full. I still am confident that if the Congress, in good faith, makes some real progress toward solving the civil rights problem, Mr. Truman will not reject it.

—Sen. Richard B. Russell (D) Georgia.

The water supply problem is a far more serious question than any of us realized five years ago. The West is not the only area that needs the development of new water sources. It is needed all over the country.

THE THIRD ENEMY—ANGER, RESENTMENTS

We have now looked at two of the fifteen enemies of the human personality: lack of a vital faith in God, and consequent self-centeredness. We now come to the third: Resentments, anger, and hate. In taking up these three we are entering the realm of the emotions.

This age is afraid of being emotional, and yet it is turning out to be a very emotional age; in fact, emotionalism is rampant. Most of this emotionalism is self-disruptive. An age that is afraid of emotion ends up in following the thing it fears. It has tried to suppress the emotions, and the emotions put out at the door have come back by the window.

For the emotions are a part of us and cannot be eliminated. All attempts at elimination end in complexes. They are pushed into the subconscious, and there they become a festering point. We cannot set aside the emotions; we can only direct them, sometimes redirect them to great aims and purposes. The emotions are the driving forces of the personality. They can drive toward the rocks or toward the open seas of expanding accomplishment.

Take anger, for instance. It is an instinct of self-protection, and for the protection of others. It causes us to stand up and fight against harmful enemies of the human personality. We are angry with evil, and therefore we stiffen ourselves against it and oppose it. Otherwise we would allow it to invade us and others. Nietzsche is right when he says that "virtue is of no use unless it can be lashed into a rage." Otherwise we would be "moral cows in our plump comfortableness." Our capacity to love the good, determines our capacity to hate the evil. But note that it is our virtue that is to be lashed into a rage—not our pride, our hurt egoism, our fears. There is all the difference in the world between the two: one is harnessed to higher ends, hence constructive; the other is harnessed to the ends of a wounded self, and hence destructive. The one is a righteous anger, the other is unrighteous.

O God, I do not sail calm seas. I am driven by tempests of emotion. Help me to harness these to the purposes of Thy Kingdom, for unharassed they drive me to the rocks upon which both I and my relationships are broken. I surrender myself and my emotions to Thee. Amen.

Don't Make Your Wife Feel That She is on the Dole

Don't Make 18 pt
erous" with your wife. That tells more than you think. It means you hand out money to your wife like a father to a child. Maybe that makes you feel generous and big-hearted.

Wife Feels Like a Beggar
But have you ever stopped to think how it makes your wife feel to have to ask you for money when she wants to buy a dress or a birthday gift for a relative, hoping that you'll be in a "generous" mood? Not very kindly to do, I guess.

"I do know," Alice said slowly. "You're stopping off at Reno on your way to California."

"Why, yes," Muriel smiled. "It's interesting that you're so well informed already. Still, Brent would have talked to Chuck. Damon has no secrets from Pythias. And Chuck, having nothing better to do, gossips like an old woman."

"He didn't exactly gossip. He didn't exactly gossip. He... Oh, Muriel, why are you doing it? Divorcing him, I mean?"

"Good heavens, you're 'why-ing' me to death. But if you must know, I've been out of love with Brent for a long time. Years, even. I bypassed him ages ago. And now he's a definite drag."

"A drag?" Alice repeated the words in the form of a question.

By all means, open up that joint checking account. You can feel just as "generous" with the money you earn if you give your wife the chance to feel it belongs to both you as you do by doling it out to her in small amounts.

In fact you should feel a lot more "generous"—for you'll be thinking of your wife's feelings rather than your own.

Funds Are Needed in War on Heart, Blood Vessel Diseases

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Written for NEA Service

High blood pressure and hardening of the arteries are two dangerous enemies of health. Not only are these conditions serious in themselves, but they also affect the heart and, therefore, can be grouped among the serious heart and blood vessel diseases.

Hardening of the arteries is caused by gradual deposits of calcium in the walls of these blood vessels. Just what causes the deposits of calcium is not known, but they do occur in the older years. These deposits of calcium decrease the elasticity of the blood vessels and this, in turn, increases the resistance to the flow of blood. As a result, the heart has to work harder and people with advanced hardening of the arteries, or arteriosclerosis, are therefore liable to failure of the heart and to high blood pressure.

The deposits of calcium do not place a strong hold at La Monte and the numerous cases there brought about the closing of the public schools there until such time as the epidemic is under full control.

Measles held a strong hold at La Monte and the numerous cases there brought about the closing of the public schools there until such time as the epidemic is under full control.

Arteriosclerosis is, as I mentioned, one of the causes for high blood pressure, but it is by no means the only one. In some cases diseases of the kidneys can produce high blood pressure, and there are a number of other known conditions which will cause hypertension. One of these is usually known as essential hypertension. This is a form of high blood pressure the causes of which are poorly understood at the present time.</

Social Events

An illustrated talk on "Chinese Art" was given Monday afternoon at Sorosis by Miss Jeanne Harris, assistant to Laurence Sickman, curator of Oriental art at the Nelson Art Gallery in Kansas City. Miss Harris, who was a staff member at the Newark Museum, N. J., and later at the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art, gave an interesting history of Chinese art as she told of the various articles of bronze and jade shown in the slides and of the Chinese paintings.

The oldest art of the Chinese, of which there is knowledge, is 2000 B.C. but the craftsmanship was so good that it must have existed long before that, Miss Harris said.

The early bronze articles, the speaker said, were made as offerings to ancestors or spirits and were part of religious ceremonies. The first picture shown was that of a large bronze vessel that was used for cooking, Miss Harris said. Other pieces were wine vessels, a cosmetic box and a mirror. The mirror, Miss Harris said, was carved on the back and had a knob in the center to which was attached a cord to hold it by and the front was very highly polished to show the reflection. Bronze, she said, was not only gilded but was also often inlaid with gold and silver in its magnificent carvings.

Bronze sometimes was of a blue or green shade where it had been oxidized from burial in the earth, Miss Harris said.

Jade has been the material used most extensively in sculpture work, the speaker said, one reason being the various things that, to them, was symbolized in it, and their ability to work it into a thing of beauty with graceful curving designs. It is now used extensively for jewelry, she said.

The colors of jade range from white to brown and shades of green from very light to the blue green of the evergreens, Miss Harris said, and she showed a number of carved pieces.

Chinese painting, the speaker said, is done either on silk or paper with ink or colors mixed with water. The artist holds his brush upright and makes vigorous strokes, she said, in which he catches the beauty of nature about him with outstanding perspective. The picture is not as looking through a window but gives the impression of continuing on. The Chinese artist's painting often represents poetry and within it he has painted actual poems such as "Song of the Guitar."

Figurine painting is also a favorite of Chinese artists in which they painted graceful Chinese women or officers, emperors or great characters whom they thought might have an influence on the Chinese people, Miss Harris said.

Pictures were painted in exquisite subdued shades usually using only two colors, pink and green, the speaker said, and the mist effect on silk was accomplished by not painting it at all.

One of the most remarkable pictures shown by Miss Harris was that of the "Dragon in the Clouds." The dragon, to the Chinese, is an omen of good luck, the speaker said, because it is supposed to come in the clouds which bring the rain to make the crops grow and thus bring prosperity. In the picture of the clouds of an approaching storm could be seen the graceful, curving body of the dragon.

To the Chinese, Miss Harris said, the most symbolic of the flowers is the lotus which symbolizes purity.

Miss Harris was introduced by Mrs. T. W. Croxton, art and drama chairman.

Mrs. Dummitt Hoffman, vice president, presided over the meeting and announced the Washington tea which will be given Wednesday afternoon by members of the Sorosis and D.A.R. for the purpose of dedicating the Washington elm on the public library lawn.

Completing the color scheme were four blue candles in crystal holders.

Mrs. Engholm was presented with a bouquet of flowers by the organization for the work she had done in it.

Work on School Roof Drainage

An improvement on the roof drainage at Smith-Cotton high school is underway by the American Plumbing and Heating company of Springfield, which has the contract for plumbing and heating for the school building program, except at Horace Mann school.

The roof drainage system at the school now is hooked up with the main sewer, and occasionally during hard rains, the sewer has become stopped up, causing flooding in the basement.

When the improved drainage is completed, water will drain from the roof through tile, which will be underground, leading out to the street. A worker with a ditch-digger, known as a jeep trencher, started digging trenches Monday. One more trench had to be dug this morning, before tile could be laid.

Magnolia Room at the Hotel Bothwell

The Bothwell hotel has a new and private dining room which has been named the Magnolia room. It was formerly used as and officers' club room while the Sedalia Army Air Base was open during the war.

The remodeling and re-decorating of the new room cost approximately $2,500, according to Fred E. Burger, manager of the hotel. This is only one of several remodeling and re-decorating projects which the hotel is to undergo this spring. The Ambassador room is to be next on the list and this work will be done at a cost estimated at $5,000.

The Magnolia room ceiling was lowered two and a half feet and covered with acoustone, a sound-proofing material. New light fixtures are used and the walls have been covered with expensive wall paper with magnolia flowers, various types of wildlife in the foreground in green and white colors. The lower portion of the wall is painted in a golden buff and the baseboard and other trim in a grey-green.

Wall to Wall Rug

The floor is covered with wall-to-wall Wilton fireproof rug in green color to match. Thirty-five new chairs, with the easy back arrangement, covered in green leather are used. The room is so constructed it is absolutely soundproof and has been air conditioned.

It will be used for small meetings, dinners and wedding breakfasts and will accommodate from 10 to 35 persons, depending on the type of meeting, dinner or breakfast which it is to be used for.

The wall paper design is by H. Luit of Cleveland, Ohio. The construction work is by Harold Dean Construction Co., and decorating by William Wright. The air conditioning is by Blue Young.

Other Improvements Planned

Mr. Burger stated the Ambassador room is to likewise be air conditioned and walls re-decorated and an extensive re-modeling job to be done. Arrangements are being made to serve from a small room off the Ambassador room instead of using temporary screens and cutting off a large portion of the east end of the room. When complete it is expected at least 175 persons can be served banquet-style there.

The liquor store is being disposed of. The partition which separated it from the Palm room is to be knocked out and the entire room re-decorated to conform with its name. It will also be used as a private dining and meeting room. It will be connected with the State Fair lounge and when necessary can be used in conjunction with the Lounge. This work is to be started within the next few weeks.

Mr. Burger also announced the dining room will undergo extensive repairs as will the lounge at a later date.

Lenten Service At St. Paul's

Mid-week Lenten services will be held each Wednesday evening for the next six weeks at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Broadway and Massachusetts avenue.

All of the Lenten meditations will be based on the familiar Biblical text, John 3, 16. The general theme of the entire series will be: "Our Great Salvation."

The first special Lenten service will be held this Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. Walter F. Strickert, pastor of the church, will preach on the subject: "The Author of Our Great Salvation." Special music will be featured by the choir.

Members and friends of the congregation are invited to attend all the Lenten services.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(P)—Secretary of State Acheson told Congress today it is "doubly urgent" to continue the Marshall Plan because Russia is showing "signs of increasing boldness."

The Secretary said that sending American economic aid to Western Europe is essential of "the Kremlin's design for world dominion" is to be frustrated.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(P)—The House Banking committee approved an administration bill to set up a $2,000,000 corporation to encourage construction of homes for middle income families.

The vote was 11 to 4. Several committee members were absent when the vote was taken and can record their positions later. But a committee spokesman said this is not expected to overturn the majority favoring the legislation.

The Senate Banking committee probably will take up similar legislation later this month.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(P)—Out-foxed by the Republicans on one political issue, Sen. a te Democratic leaders tried to rally their forces today behind an administration legislative program.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the party leader, called Democrats into a caucus. (10 a.m. EST) after the Republicans came out in a bit of political maneuvering yesterday over establishment of a small business committee.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(P)—Cyrus Ching, Federal Mediation Director, gave the White House report today on the threatened nationwide telephone strike on Friday.

Ching did not tell reporters just what he had advised the White House, but from all outward signs there is now a tight deadlock in negotiations between the Bell Telephone System and the CIO-Communications Workers of America.

Ching presumably talked with John Steelman, Presidential assistant who specializes in labor relations matters.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(P)—A Republican Senator's charges that two men and a woman make up a "big three" directing a spy ring in the state department headed today for an investigation by the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, told reporters he will propose that the committee look into accusations made by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) that 81 Communists either have or now work for the department.

McCarthy, who described these individuals from supposedly secret files in a five-hour Senate speech last night, said he would give their names to such a committee. He didn't give any in his speech.

Forecast on County's Share

The Better Roads committee of Missouri today forecast that Pettis county will get an estimated total amount of $186,476 in its rural road construction allotments if the proposed new good roads law is approved by the voters of Missouri on April 4.

The Missouri Highway Commission's average annual construction expenditure on farm-to-market roads over the last 10 years in Pettis county has been $39,777.

In addition the county also will benefit through planned improvements on the main highway system and urban construction programs in cities of population of 5000 or more.

The committee's forecast is predicted on the total estimated income the proposed new road law is expected to produce. The Missouri Highway Commission has estimated, under the existing allotment basis, that the new law will produce an additional annual income of $16,000,000, of which $8,000,000 will go for state rural roads in each county.

MoPac to Spend Over 5 Million

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 21—(AP)—U.S. District Judge George H. Moore authorized the Missouri Pacific railroad Monday to spend $5,399,600 for capital improvements—including money for radio equipment on freight trains.

Broken down the authorization is $3,827,400 for the Missouri Pacific itself; $1,051,950 for the Gulf line, Mo. Pac. subsidiary, and $520,250 for the International-Great Northern.

In the order the railroad explained it had been experimenting with radio communication between the locomotives and cabooses of freight trains in Louisiana for the past two years as a method to increase rail safety.

Four trains between St. Louis and Kansas City are to be equipped within the next 30 days. All freight trains in the Central Kansas, Southern Kansas and Colorado divisions will be radio controlled.

The court order also authorizes $1,500,000 for the construction of a new freight station in St. Louis to replace two stations which have been in operation since 1879 and 1888 respectively.

Another $218,000 was earmarked for traffic control and improvement on tracks between Mill Springs, Mo., and Poplar Bluff.

Town Set Agog By Kiss For A Basketball Queen

BETHANY, Okla., Feb. 21—(AP)—newspaper gave full publicity to the affair and over the week-end the whole town divided into two camps on the issue.

Monday the students returned to classes but parents of the five suspended said they were notified Monday night that their children should not return to school and more.

School board President Buford Ingram had this to say:

"We're going to clamp down on this thing—we're going to rule it with an iron hand."

The school board will meet in regular session tomorrow night, and Ingram said the matter would be taken up then.

But at least one parent favored any action the school might take to punish the striking students.

She was Mrs. Dorothy Roberts, whose daughter, Doris, 17, participated in the walkout.

"I'm behind the school all the way," she said. "The pupils have to learn to follow rules."

The school board chief denied the school forbids dancing. He said a youth center in the city is owned by the Nazarene church, which frowns on dancing. He said the school gym is not used for such events because the floor would be damaged.

A similar queen-kissing incident in 1948 brought on a mild rhubarb between the students and school officials Homer Smith, 19, said he kissed the queen that year and the principal wouldn't allow publication of the coronation picture in the school's annual.

E. M. Strader, father of one of the suspended boys, said Edwards called him after school and "told me to tell Jay not to come back to school any more."

Parents of the Witherspoon and Hale boys told similar stories.

The students said they created no further disturbance at school Monday—acting on advice of their parents.

A citizens committee was formed Sunday to iron out the youngsters' problems. The committee originally planned to meet tonight at a private home but had to move the meeting to the American Legion hall in order to accommodate parents who attended.

Things began to jump last Friday. About 30 students walked out of classes partially in rebellion against the strict rules and because they said they feared the kissing episode would get them in trouble anyway.

The teen-agers staged a downtown automobile parade but were halted by police who told them to get a permit. They stormed the office of Mayor S. P. Dawson. He, too, denied them a permit "Because we don't want them parading around with those signs on their cars."

Most of the cars carried signs denouncing the alleged lack of freedom in the school.

Then the youths Saturday took their fight to the Daily Oklahoman in nearby Oklahoma City. The

Quit as Democrat; Stays as Republican

PALMYRA, Mo., Feb. 21—(AP)—E. H. Difelholst resigned today as a Democratic member of the Marion county highway commission, but remained as a Republican member of the county social security board.

Both boards are bi-partisan, with two members of each party.

Difelholst's action followed newspaper stories last week that he held jobs on the boards—each one as a member of a different party.

Difelholst described himself as a Republican, but added: "I voted for Truman once so I guess the Democrats considered me one of them."

Difelholst is a Marion county farmer and former member of the county court.

Directors For Roads Group

From Both Parties To Advocate Gas Tax Increase

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 21 — (P)—The better roads committee drew from the rosters of both political parties today in selecting its board of directors. The committee is heading the fight for popular approval of Gov. Forrest Smith's gas tax increase law.

Richard Muckerman of St. Louis president of the committee, said in announcing the names of the 13 directors:

"These outstanding businessmen and civic leaders recognize the real need for getting more money for our state highway department if Missouri is to maintain and extend its present highway system."

"There is no politics in this good roads program. There could be no greater evidence of this than the list of directors. They are prominent in both major political parties. x x x"

Chosen By Districts

The directors, listed by the congressional districts they will represent in the committee's campaign leading up to the special referendum election April 4:

First—Louis J. Huegel, Hannibal hotel owner.

Second—Fred V. Heinkel of Columbia, president of the Missouri Farmers' Association.

Third—former State Senator Francis Smith, lawyer and a director of the St. Joseph Automobile Club. (The Missouri Automobile Club is one of the organizations fighting the proposed doubling of the two cent tax.)

Fourth—E. M. Stayton of Independence, an engineer and delegate to the 1943-44 constitutional convention.

Fifth—Albert F. Hillix of Kansas City, lawyer and former president of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce.

Sixth—Claude C. Earp of Nevada, former chairman of the state highway commission and former director of Missouri's selective service system.

Seventh—State Senator J. E. Curry (R) of Ava, publisher and author of an earlier proposal to hike Missouri's gas tax. It was defeated in the 1948 general election.

Eighth—State Senator M. C. Mattner (R) of Hillsboro, a lawyer and president pro tem in the 1947-48 Republican controlled Senate.

Ninth—former Gov. Lloyd C. Stark of Louisiana, a Democrat and the chairman of Governor Smith's advisory highway committee a year ago.

Tenth—John H. Wolpers, Poplar Bluff newspaper publisher and a

Phone Exhibit For St. Louis

An unusual exhibit reaches St. Louis Monday, February 27, on firm foundations: according to T. M. Mullaly, manager of Southwestern Bell. Called "Looking Ahead With the Bell System," the exhibit displays on the loyalty and skill of hundreds of thousands of men and women who build and operate the voiceways; on the confidence of hundreds of thousands of people in all walks of life who invest their savings to enlarge and improve the telephone plant. These have given America the best telephone service the world knows today—and for tomorrow they hold out the promise of still greater things to come."

Plans are under way for an "Open House" to be held in the Sedalia telephone office sometime in April. "Everyone in Sedalia will have a chance to see the telephone system at work, as well as to view several interesting exhibits," Mullaly said.

Mullaly pointed out that "The telephone is 74 years old this year. Its development within a single lifetime has been a modern miracle. Yet this is only the beginning. The future will see greater progress than the past has ever known. The telephone's future is being built on firm foundations: on the ceaseless search for new and better devices and methods;

Telephone Workers Get Good Wages, PLUS...

GOOD PAY IS only one of the factors in a telephone job. On the plus side, in addition to the wages shown below, are these advantages:

REGULAR RAISES

Telephone men and women receive regular, progression increases in wages from the time they start until they reach their top rates. These raises come along regularly, according to a definite schedule. Under present contracts, three out of four telephone people will get such increases during 1950.

STEADY WORK

Telephone jobs give year round work. That means regular pay checks and an assured annual income. After all, annual income is the best test of earnings.

PAID VACATIONS

One to three weeks a year, depending on length of service. Also, seven holidays a year with pay.

GOOD WORKING CONDITIONS

Telephone people have congenial co-workers. Their work is pleasant and interesting. They help provide a vital service and are respected members of the community.

SECURITY

Employees get sickness and death benefits up to a year's pay—at no cost to them. They can look forward, with 20 or more years' service at age 65, to a pension of at least $100 a month, including social security, and pensions to many employees will be even higher.

CHANCES TO ADVANCE

Promotions are made from within the company and there is opportunity for able and ambitious men and women to advance to better jobs.

French Birth Rate Still High
PARIS — (AP) — France, whose low birth-rate caused concern to national leaders before the war, is now producing more babies. Official statistics for 1949, just issued, show 840,000 births during the year as compared with an annual average of about 630,000 in the immediate pre-war years. The number of marriages in 1949 was about 320,000, a slight decrease as compared with 1948.

Official estimates placed the population of France for the year at around 42,000,000.

S-C Tigers Play Fulton In Regionals

Game Starts at 7:30 O'clock In Boonville

Smith-Cotton Tigers will make a bid for high school honors when they clash with the Fulton quintet in the first game of the Boonville regional this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Should the Tigers win this tilt, their next game would be Thursday night with the victor of the Columbia-Jefferson City tilt on Wednesday night. The finals will be played off Friday and the winner will go to the state tournament.

Another game will be played tonight starting at 9:00 o'clock between Boonville and Kemper.

The Tigers have a season record of 20 wins against 4 defeats and should overpower the Fulton five tonight, since that team has a weak record of 2 wins and 16 defeats.

The Smith-Cotton squad will leave for Boonville from the high school this afternoon at 5:15 o'clock. The following will make the journey: Starters Ruffin and Brown, forwards; Holst, center; Walker or McCrary and Lankeau, guards. Also Morgan, Shawver, Edwards and Johnson.

The Boonville regional is one of 16 regional tournaments to be played in the state and the winner of each regional will go to the state tournament, which will be staged in Columbia.

Teams in the Boonville regional are: Smith-Cotton, Fulton, Columbia, Jefferson City, Boonville, Kemper, Marshall and St. Peters.

CBC Plays Lincoln Thursday Night

Central Business College cagers will journey to Lincoln Thursday evening to play a team of that town at 8:00 o'clock.

The CBC squad is scheduled to leave from The Gridle for Lincoln at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening.

Lincoln cagers were ousted in the first round play of the Warsaw tournament, which was won a couple of weeks ago by the Sedalia team.

CBC has a season record of 20 wins and four defeats.

Mules Need a Win to Stay Atop MIAA League

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb. 21—(P)—The Warrensburg Mules will have to beat Maryville tonight to tie Springfield for the MIAA basketball championship.

The Springfield Bears clinched at least a share of the title by thumping Kirksville 57-38 last night for their eighth league victory in 10 starts.

If Warrensburg wins tonight the Mules will have a playoff with Springfield to determine which team will meet the MCAU champion for the right to enter the NAIB tournament in Kansas City, Springfield coach Andy McDonald said.

Bullfighter Makes Kill; Then is Taken to Jail

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Feb. 21—(P)—Mexican bullfighter Gregorio Puebla was in jail today for killing a bull.

Puebla delivered a clean, mortal thrust on the kill. It was an artistic finish that brought the crowd of aficionados in the La Solera arena to its feet in a standing ovation yesterday.

Then the police collared Puebla and hauled him off to jail.

Bullfighting is legal in Costa Rica—but the bull must not be killed.

Field Trials on; No Rest For Bob White

GRAND JUNCTION, Tennessee, Feb. 21—(P)—If a quail can be a nervous wreck there will be plenty of them around Ames plantation by week's end.

The National Championships is underway here to pick the nation's top bird dog. And there's no rest for Bob White.

The trial fields four pointers per day as long as there's enough to go around and there's 23 yet to show. Judging will take at least a week.

Four more prize bird dogs were called up today.

Trial opened yesterday when the first two braces of the 31-dog field skinned over the sagebrush flats.

Thirty-two beavers were pointed up by the quartet before the day's end.

Mat Thrills For Wednesday Night

Wrestling matches, Wednesday night, at the National Guard Armory will have top-talent of the nation on the three-match event. After a lapse of more than two months the weekly events are being resumed under the sponsorship of Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion and promotership of Pearl Christy.

Topping the bill of entertainment of the square circle will be "Wild Bill" Longson, Salt Lake City, U., weighing in at 240 pounds and Mike Sharp, Hamilton, Ontario, Canada who tips the scales at 232 pounds. Both men are exceptional in the ring, Sharp being more on the scientific side while Longson is an expert at wrestling as well as resorting to the "rough stuff."

Vic Holbrook, Hollywood, Calif., who has appeared in the local ring many times, but absent the past two years is coming back to appear in the Semi-Final event against Lee Henning of Buffalo, N. Y. The special event or opener will see another former ringman of the local ring in Vic Christy, Los Angeles, clashing with Tommy O'Toole, Boston, known as the fighting Irishman.

The first wrestling show of 1950 is expected to be one filled with thrills every minute.

Predicts Giants Will Finish Second

SANFORD, Fla., Feb. 21—(P)—Carl Hubbell, New York Giants farm system director, today predicted the Giants will finish second in the National League.

Said Hubbell: "I feel that the Brooklyn Dodgers will be the ones to beat. They are young and have a lot of hustle. They are in the driver's seat mainly because they were the flag winners last year."

"But you can rest assured that the aggregation now assembled under the direction of Leo Du Rocher, Giants manager, will give the Brooklyn crew all a run for its money."

The former Giant lefty predicted Boston and Philadelphia will probably finish third and fourth. Hubbell warned the opponents to look for an improved Giants pitching staff.

"Our pitchers are not so poor as most observers believe. With Larry Jansen, Monte Kennedy and Sheldon Jones forming a nucleus around which to build, we will be potent on the mound in '50," he observed.

New hurlers will include right-hander George Bamberger and Lefty Roger Bowman. Bowman won 15, Bamberger 14 with Jersey City. Others are Dick Adair, Bill Miller, bonus player Lou Sleser who pitched for Jacksonville last year, and Oswald Kolwe.

Big Seven Cage Loop is Paced By Nebraska

Cornhuskers Took Half Game Lead Over Wildcats

By Skipper Patrick

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 21—(P)—The Nebraska Cornhuskers today had the inside track on the conference race to the Big Seven conference basketball title.

Nebraska took a half-game lead over Kansas State, its most serious rival at the moment, by beating Missouri, 55-48, at Columbia, last night. That gave Nebraska a 7-2 league mark compared to 6-2 for Kansas State.

The Cornhuskers have Iowa State (2-7) to play at Ames, Iowa Saturday and Oklahoma (3-4) at home March 4 before finishing against Kansas State at Manhattan March 11.

Kansas State must play Colorado (5-3) next Monday at Manhattan, Missouri (1-7) at home March 3 and Clyde Lovellette and the tough Kansas Jayhawks at Lawrence March 7 before getting to the Nebraska game.

Sooneers Wallop Iowa

Oklahoma, struggling desperately for a first division berth, walloped Iowa State 76-48 at Norman, Okla., last night. It was the second highest score ever made in the Sooneers' field house. Nebraska got the high, 79, in 1948.

Lovellette was held to a mere 14 points at Des Moines last night but Kansas got its first balanced attack of the season in whipping Drake, 67-50.

Missouri couldn't handle tall Bill Whitehead, who scored 18 points and got most of the rebounds, and Nebraska was never in trouble after the first eleven minutes during which time the score was tied six times.

Oklahoma used sixteen players against Iowa State. Sooner forward Wayne Glasgow led the scoring parade with 18 points.

Three League Tilts Saturday

Three conference games are scheduled for Saturday. Besides the Nebraska-Iowa State tilt, Colorado and Kansas will meet at Lawrence, the winner taking over third place.

Oklahoma will pay a return visit to Missouri.

PCAA Playoffs Won By Hughesville High

The Hughesville high school basketball team will go to Concordia this week to play in the sub-regional tournament for basketball teams of Class B. Hughesville has a seasonal record of 21 victories against two losses. The Wildcats in the sub-regional tournament will clash with Cameron on Wednesday night.

Saturday night the P.C.A.A. plays were won by Hughesville who won over Warsaw high school by a score of 40 to 36. It was a battle all the way and the half-time score stood at 18-17 favoring the wildcats.

The right to play in the playoffs was won after Hughesville had previously defeated Houstonia 53 to 23, and LaMotte by a score of 36 to 23.

MY Biggest Boner

Kopf Was Wearing His Pants Long And Kerr Pulled up Short at Second

By Dickie Kerr

Pitching Star, 1919 World Series

It was the third inning of the sixth game of the 1919 World Series, I believe, and the Cincinnati Reds had taken a 2-0 lead off Jake Daubert, the Cincinnati first baseman, had the ball by then, and I still had six innings to pitch, so I just walked up to him and said:

"I guess I can go to work, now."

He gave me a snicker and said I hit a grounder to Larry Kopf, the Redlegs' shortstop. The ball was well hit and deep and Kopf couldn't get anybody. So the bases were full with one out. Looked like we were ready to tie it up.

Nemo Leibold lifted a fly to Eddie Roush in center field. We all tagged up, ready to run in case Risberg was sent home from third after the catch.

I ran bases almost entirely by the socks on players, so was watching for white socks at second base. I saw white stocking legs take off for third base. I took off for second.

When I pulled up at second, who should be standing on the bag but Schalk?

"What the devil are you doing here?" he asked.

"I dunno," I said and started back toward first base.

That's all The Kid ever said to me about it.

Somebody drew a cartoon in a newspaper the next day depicting me with a bone in my mouth.

the work at third base last year. Brown had a great world series.

Al Martin, rookie second baseman, from Oakland shouldn't take too long to sign.

Johnny Lindell, mentioned prominently in all trade talks involving the Yanks during the winter, hasn't come to terms. Neither has Dick Wakefield acquired from Detroit in the deal for first baseman Dick Kryhoski.

Nobody on the Yankee club is considered a "noldout" until Mar. 1 when spring training starts at St. Petersburg, Fla. Most of the unsigned men are already in Florida.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

"BUY AN APPLE, MISTER?"—The apple seller remains the symbol of America's great depression of the Thirties, the memory of which remains vivid and fearful in many minds today. The dramatic spark which touched it off was the stock market crash of 1929. But it was not until late in 1930 that the average thrifty, hard-working wage-earner really felt the jolt. Conditions became harsher through 1931 and by 1932 millions were jobless; business was stagnant. How we got out of it is still a subject of bitter controversy. There came the "New Deal," the bank holiday and the pump-priming measures, the NRA, the CCC, the WPA and NYA. World War II came and it was momentarily forgotten, but the awful shadow of the Big Depression and its apple sellers will long remain.

damages and $100,000 punitive. The couple married in June, 1946, and Brodsky said his wife left him in April, 1948, after her father had taken her on an extended vacation in Cuba.

She sued for divorce here in June 1948, but the suit was dismissed. Later she obtained a divorce in Kansas City, and Brodsky appealed the case.

Progress On Sewer Project In Past Month

Report Given To Council By The Resident Engineer

Richard Lindemood, resident engineer for the sewer project now under construction in Sedalia, made the following report on its progress, to members of the City Council, meeting in regular session Monday night:

February 15, 1950
To The Honorable Mayor and Members of the City Council

"Progress Report on Sanitary Sewer Improvement Project and Treatment Plant Construction.

"Gentlemen:
The following is a report of the progress during the month of January 1950 on the Sanitary Sewer Improvement Project and the construction program for the South, North and West Treatment Plants."

"At the South Treatment Plant work on the Digester Control Building consisted of setting equipment, installation of pipe work and installation of precast concrete roof slabs. Pumps and pipe work were installed in the pump structure. The concrete work on the Influent Structure was approximately 30% completed. Yard piping was approximately 85% completed. Arrangements were made to have filter rock hauled in during February.

Work proceeded on installation of equipment in the Primary and Secondary Clarifiers. The electricians set the control panel in the Control Building and have installed most of the conduit and pull boxes for power distribution to the various structures.

Work done to date represents approximately 88% completion of the project and indications are that unless they are hampered by extremely bad weather, the contractor will have this plant in operation by March 15th.

"At the North Treatment Plant the Control Building brick work is better than 90% completed and the interior walls have been completed. Work continued on process piping in the Digester. Installation of Primary Clarifier equipment continued. Yard piping is about 50% completed. The filter block tile was installed with the exception of one small area which will be finished in February. Most of the pump structure concrete work has been completed and forming for concrete work proceeded on the Influent Structure. Most of the conduit for the underground power distribution system has been installed. Work done to date represents approximately 74% completion of the project.

"At the West Treatment Plant the concrete walls up to the operating floor slab were poured and shoring for the operating floor slab was put in position. Work proceeded on yard piping which is now approximately 40% completed. Some conduit for the underground power distribution system was installed. Necessary alterations to the existing dosing tank were started. Work done to date represents approximately 54% completion of the project.

"Work on the sewer project during January was mostly in the Northwest, North and East Districts with a small amount of tile being laid on Warren Ave. in the West District. The work on Warren avenue has been temporarily halted, but will be completed the latter part of February or the first part of March. In the Northwest District excavation was in progress and 12" tile was laid for Main "A" on Ohio avenue South from Clay Street to Henry Street and thence East along Henry Street. Main "C" consisting of 8" tile extending South from Henry street on Washington avenue and Main "F" in the North District consisting of 8" tile extending North from Boonville Street on Engineer avenue to the alley between Jackson and Tower streets were completed this month. Also in the North District the section of 6" cast iron force main between Saline street and the North Pump station located East of Heard street and South of Saline was completed. In the East District work was started on the continuation of Main "N" consisting of 8" sewer tile between Merriam avenue and the East Pump Station located North of 14th street and West of Merriam street. Sewer tile laid this month consisted of 2,229 linear feet. By the end of January the total amount of sewer laid amounted to approximately 38,493 linear feet, which combined with man holes constructed and work done on the pump stations represents approximately 81% completion of the project."

"Respectfully submitted,
"Resident Engineer."
